

Identities Abroad: How to navigate your identity while abroad

Our social identities frame the way we see the world and how the world views us. Join us for a panel event that will focus on how our social identities shape our experiences working, traveling, or studying abroad. Come to learn how you can prepare for your own journey abroad. Following the panel, there will be short round table discussions with panelists to further discuss experiences and expectations among peers.

Wed, March 22, 2019
